

STATE OF THE AFRICAN DIASPORA AND ITS INSTITUTIONAL CONNECTIONS

MESSAGE FROM THE PRIME MINISTER

The State of the African Diaspora (SOAD) is an entity sui generis, which means it is defined by itself, like the African Union, the European Union, the Vatican, etc. And as it is also a sovereign State, therefore, it does not need to be recognized by others to exist. It exists through its own Constitution, its institutions and its actions.

However, the State of the African Diaspora is not isolated, of course. Its leaders are based in more than 100 countries in the world, and SOAD has with the United Nations, the African Union, the CAFRAD, many countries and kingdoms different kinds of connections, like cooperation agreements, mandates or programs of action, as will be explained in this document.

1) Introduction

Within Africa, there are 5 regions: North Africa, West Africa, Central Africa, East Africa, Southern Africa. In 2003, at the end of the AU Summit, the Heads of State declared (14 (XVIII) add. :

“The African Union (...) decides to recognize the African Diaspora as an effective entity contributing to economic and social development of the continent. “

They decided that the Diaspora would be the “Sixth Region” of Africa, which now exists in the constitution of the African Union, and is a region without borders.

But for many years, this “Sixth Region” of the AU existed only on paper. It was therefore necessary to give substance to this institution, and move from a de facto diaspora to a de jure diaspora.

In 2014, Mohamed Ould Abdel Aziz, President-in-Office of the African Union gave a mandate to Dr Louis-Georges Tin, chairperson of the CRAN (the French black coalition), to set up the African Diaspora, to “give substance” to the Sixth Region:

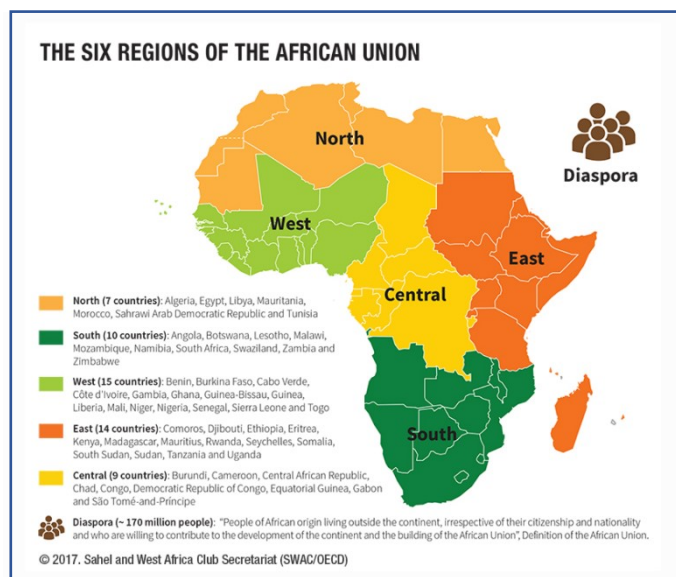

“You wished to attract our attention about your project that aims to give substance to the 6th region of the African Union(...). The interview I had with you and the information that we collected about your activities gave me the assurance of the major role the CRAN can play to contribute to the implementation of the programs of development of our Continent. “

Then, with an international team, Dr Louis-Georges Tin formed a Government. On July, 1st, 2018, during the Summit of the African Union, where he was invited by the President of Mauritania, Dr Louis-Georges Tin launched this initiative : the State of the African Diaspora was borne, a State without borders.

The State of the African Diaspora is not a part of the African Union, has not asked to be recognised by the African Union, and is independent from it, as it is a sovereign entity. However, Dr Tin received a mandate from the President of the African Union, and SOAD interacts with the African Union, which reinforces its strength.

2) Connections with the United Nations

The State of the African Diaspora is not a member of the United Nations, and did not ask to be a member of this Organisation, but is working with the UN on different programs.

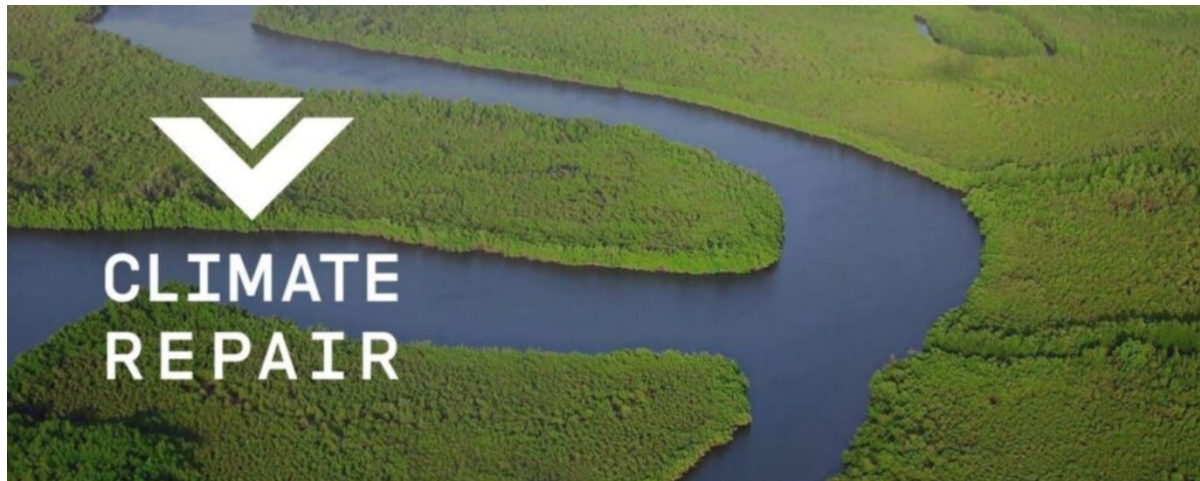

a) The UN Permanent Forum for People of African Descent

In 2021, the Human Rights Council of the United Nations created The Permanent Forum of People of African Descent. The Prime Minister of the State of the African Diaspora wrote to the UN authorities to recommend his Minister of Home Affairs, Mrs Alice Nkom. In 2022, Mrs Nkom was appointed as one of the 10 members of the Forum. Therefore, the State of the African Diaspora has a direct connection with the Forum and the Human Rights Council, and contributes to their programs of action.

b) The Global Constituency of Youth for Environment

In February 2022, the Global Constituency of Youth for Environment, which works under the aegis of the United Nations, honored Salem Ayenan, Dean of the Faculty of Diplomacy of the University of the State of the African Diaspora and Chief of Staff of the Minister of Education.

This UN institution had launched a call for applications for the organization of Local Youth Assemblies for the Environment. It should be recalled that these assemblies are held each year before the UN General Assembly for the Environment, and their mission is to contribute to the work of the UN in this area by making proposals that are presented at the UN General Assembly for the Environment.

Salem Ayenan had applied on behalf of the State of the African Diaspora. On February 10, 2022, he received the following message:

“Dear Mr. Salem Ayenan of the University of the State of the African Diaspora, we congratulate you on your selection to implement the Regional Youth Assembly for the Environment on behalf of the Africa region. Out of more than 200 applications from all countries in Africa, your application was of particular interest to us because of your vision, ideals and experiences.”

On April 5, 2023, the United Nations Alliance for Sustainable Development Goals (UNASDG) and the State of the African Diaspora (SOAD) signed a convention and a cooperation agreement. According to these documents, Likewise, the State of the African Diaspora hereby confirms its willingness and intention to enter into long-term cooperation with the intergovernmental organization UNASDG, and both organizations fully recognize each other as a full sovereign body by signing this Agreement. "

As indicated in the convention, "the objectives of the cooperation are the smooth implementation and completion of projects and processes at the technical, environmental, economic, humanitarian and financial levels within the framework of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)"

The SDGs were defined by the United Nations in 2015 and include 17 objectives such as « no poverty », « no hunger », « clean water », « clean energy », « gender equality », « quality education », etc. The State of the African Diaspora is very involved in the SDGs, especially through its program to provide agribusiness and to create 25 smart cities in Africa and in the Diaspora, and is working with the UNASDG to raise financing for these initiatives.

The 17 SDG were defined by the United Nations in 2015 to "provide a shared blueprint for a more peaceful, prosperous years sustainable future for all".
